

Orgatec 2018: what to expect

The leading international trade fair for the modern working world is back and brimming with office products, installations and events

RECEPTION

Set under the timely banner of culture@work, Cologne's very own Orgatec 2018 promises to showcase a flurry of visionary concepts for a new work culture. What kinds of spaces does this new work culture need? Are ideas best explored in offices or coffee lounges? Are meetings physical or virtual? Running from October 23-27, Orgatec will answer these and many more questions. In the meantime, here's a thorough preview of the best brands and products to look out for, neatly divided into four key office areas.

LaCividina - Hall 10.2, Stand: J029

Founded in the North East of Italy, LaCividina (pictured above) has had a quintessentially Italian approach for over 40 years. Among other products showing at Orgatec will be Waves by French designer Constance Guisset, who has injected the piece with her trademark bold shapes and fun colours. Inspired by the paintings of the American artist Georgia O'Keeffe, Guisset has created an organic-shaped seating selection of individual pieces which can be connected through an integrated magnetic system.
