Functional, aesthetically appealing, with attention to the smallest details, handcrafted but also made with advanced technologies and precious materials. LACIVIDINA

An armchair made of threads, is Filinea, a futuristic armchair inspired by the euphorbia tirucalli plant and made of very thin steel rod. Designed by Antonino Sciortino, this 'air shape' that comes from the meeting between nature and technique, has a steel rod processing a few millimeters thick that requires great technical skill, for a very light seat - it only weighs seven kilos - on which to rest while remaining suspended in the air. lacividina.com
