LONDON | UNCOMMON CO-WORKING
LACIVIDINA

In London, at the Highbury district between King's Cross and Shoreditch, Uncommon proposes its independent idea (the project is theirs, and the locations are already four in number) of co-working, with a traditional spatial layout but an added value in terms of interior design choices: the accent is on materials and constantly soft colors. In this setting, the impromptu yet conventional taste of the seating by LaCividina stands out, adding character and the necessary performance for a co-working facility: Velour (perfect for reserved telephone calls), the Myplace seating collection in various colors, and the green Pinch sofas combined with the Ala armchairs, represent the connecting link between taste and function.
